

Heretical Responses To Propaganda

For the few aficionados of the decades-long demonization of the O9A and David Myatt by antifascists, and since 2018 by the Establishment, we reproduce here screenshots from a recent (2023) spat on the premier "White nationalist" internet forum since the accusations about Myatt have been routinely made by antifascists and others for decades.

Some anonymous person, possibly just a young enthusiastic inexperienced lad who doesn't feel or as yet know what honor means, made reference to something a certain, now deceased, Eddy Morrison wrote about Myatt, with Morrison and Myatt having founded the short-lived, violent, National Democratic Freedom Movement in Leeds in the 1970s of which John Tyndall of British National Party fame wrote:

"The National Democratic Freedom Movement made little attempt to engage in serious politics but concentrated its activities mainly upon acts of violence against its opponents. [...] Before very long the NDFM had degenerated into nothing more than a criminal gang." {1}

This 'criminal gang' gets a mention in one of the posts.

The anonymous person went on to publicly call Myatt a "POS". Given the 'cancel culture' - aka censorship - that exists even on the Internet, we have redacted a certain politically incorrect term used by the person who responded to the anonymous posts. Readers should also be aware that links are provided to what are now regarded as heretical texts and articles.

The initial post quoting Morrison was:

Default The O9A & Satanic perversion by Eddy Morrison (1949-2020)

"This is just a short statement to state one of White Voice's fundamentals - the rejection of Satanism to influence and pervert the White Nationalist Movement.

Specifically we condemn the O9A - the Order of the 9 Angles.

This perverted form of "National Socialism" has done great harm to the Movement in every country where one of its cells have infiltrated a White Nationalist group.

I have personally had to expel these ideological perverts before and I would do it again.

David Myatt says he has "never been involved" with the O9A. However, this article is published under his own name...

Very old and very silly antifascist allegation about Myatt. See "Old Accusations" (pages 240-241) and the complete text of that Approach article (pages 242-243) in "Myatt: Philosophy, Peregrinations, Allegations" at <https://archive.org/download/dm-comp...tion-dec22.pdf>

Regarding Eddy Morrison, if you're resurrecting old stuff he wrote, here's what John Tyndall thought of him. Many of those who knew Tyndall respected him and regarded him as probably the best post-WW2 British racial nationalist leader, activist and speaker, and in the April 1983 issue of his monthly Spearhead magazine Tyndall published an article titled 'The Wanderings and Posturings of the Pathetic Eddy Morrison', which included the following observation: that Morrison "was a specimen who has constantly ratted on everyone who has posed trust in him, and always in an atmosphere of shady plotting and intrigue."

The anonymous person then went so far as to publicly call Myatt a "POS", which elicited the reply:

So you believe an allegation made in the ~~journalist~~ media and parroted for years by antifascists such as Gable and Lowles?

You didn't do the fair, the Aryan thing, and give Myatt's side of the story? You didn't bother to do some research and discover the allegation was investigated at the time by both the police and RSPCA and found to be bogus?

You didn't know that John Tyndall did the decent thing and contacted Myatt before he wrote that article about Morrison because Morrison had made the same allegation about Myatt?

No wonder we as a folk, as a movement, are in the mess we're in when such ~~journalist~~ smears are believed for whatever reason.

This is what Myatt wrote in 2000,

Quote:

"For over twenty years, journalists, those opposed to National-Socialism, and dishonourable, egotistical weak-willed rumour-mongers among the so-called racial-nationalist 'Movement', have been circulating rumours and making allegations about my personal involvement with Occultism and Satanism. This is despite the fact that I have denied and do deny ever having been a 'Satanist', and despite the fact that I have stated many times that I regard Satanism as decadent and morally wrong.

These rumours and allegations were started by, and are still circulated by, my enemies for one simple reason - to try and discredit me personally. For, if I can be discredited in such a way, people will not take seriously what I have written about National-Socialism and what I have done for this most noble of Causes.

For well over fifty years the enemies of National-Socialism, the Zionists, have used the power of the Media, which is in their hands, to discredit or try to destroy the reputation of those individuals who either publicly oppose them or who those Zionists consider are or may be dangerous to them. It was so with Adolf Hitler and the NSDAP and it is so today with anyone who has the courage to stand up in public and denounce the Zionist tyranny which we are forced to live under.

In some ways, this attention is a compliment: as Adolf Hitler once said, if a person wakes up one morning and does not find himself slandered and ridiculed in the ~~journalist~~ press he has not made good use of the previous day."

The quote is from <https://archive.org/download/myatt-s...-writings1.pdf>

The article containing the quote was in fact first published by Myatt in 1998 and republished in 2000. The URL in full is https://archive.org/download/myatt-selected-ns-writings1_202202/myatt-selected-ns-writings1.pdf

There's also David Myatt's tract "Occultism and National-Socialism" published in 1997 by Renaissance Press, New Zealand, which no one bothers to reference - it seems they'd rather believe the ~~journalist~~ press - in which tract Myatt explains why occultism of every sort is incompatible with National Socialism. See <https://archive.org/download/myatt-o...-occult-ns.pdf>

Since Myatt wrote a few articles for Tyndall's Spearhead magazine in the 1980s and 1990s, it's clear Tyndall accepted Myatt's denial re the allegations of satanism since otherwise Tyndall would not have published any articles by Myatt. The publication of these Spearhead articles is briefly mentioned in the 2022 book "Pride in prejudice: Understanding Britain's extreme right" by Paul Jackson published by Manchester University Press although as usual with antifascist writers his so-called research is slipshod, biased, and he states the articles were published in Spearhead in the 2000s.

I think one of the articles was titled something like "The Inner Meaning Of Nationalism" or perhaps it was "The Inner Meaning Of Racial Nationalism".

That's basically what Myatt said in the 1997 tract "Occultism and National-Socialism" which I mentioned in a previous post.

As for the allegations about Myatt and Satanism which someone, quoting Eddy Morrison, made in this thread, the story is more complicated than the propagandists, the antifascists, and those who believe them, make it seem given the antifascist agenda is to discredit their hated enemies by whatever means.

More complicated, because not long after that newspaper article, Morrison got involved with one of Myatt's criminal enterprises and in the Summer of '74 they were both arrested by the Yorkshire regional crime squad and held on remand in Armley prison. So what does Morrison's criminal involvement with Myatt say about how Morrison then viewed the allegations? Myatt was later convicted - partly on evidence from Morrison - of being a 'fence' and sentenced to 18 months in prison. All this is a matter of public record.

That, years later, Morrison would use the newspaper allegations to try and discredit Myatt - while not mentioning his involvement with Myatt in a criminal enterprise not long after those allegations were made public - would tend to confirm Tyndall's assessment of Morrison.
